Rotarian John Trapp addressed the group with Membership Objectives. He announced that, "You don't want a club of my buddies."

His introduction to Rotary came as a suggestion by a work colleague/mentor. At nearly the same time, Dave Dewey suggested that he give UA Rotary consideration. Each member has a story that brought them to the club. As Membership Chair, he suggested the following ideas for new members:

- People new to Upper Arlington. Great opportunity to get to meet people.
- Retirees. A chance for them to serve others.
- Empty Nesters
- Employees or someone that you mentor. This can be a little difficult, but prospects exist.
- Children/Spouses/Family Members of Club members. Many of them are familiar with Rotary.
- Former Members. Perhaps their life circumstances have changed and may consider joining again.

Membership is the lifeblood of our club. Attrition will force the need to add new members annually.

John and President Andy led a table exercise identifying, "Who is not here?" The purpose was for each table to brainstorm local community residents that should be part of our club. The Police Chief, Fire Chief, and Foundation Members, have been members in the past and should be part of a community organization.

Each table then gave their results and recommendations. Ideas included UA Leadership Program, UA Civic Association, Interact Parents, neighbors & friends, Blue Jackets and Clippers teams, a community flyer, remote workers looking for interaction, and representatives from Senior Living facilities.

Members are encouraged to bring prospective members and the club will pay for their meal.
